GLASSES
Steady the Nerves

For certain forms of nervousness Glasses have often been found very beneficial. This has been proven many times when the only relief hoped for was freedom from eye troubles. But any nervousness which is due to eye strain (and it is quite prevalent) will be relieved by wearing the right Glasses. We are able to get the right Glasses for you. That is what our optical department is for. Call.

CRANE'S

GETS STRONG VERDICT IN THE THIRD SUIT

Saturday's issue of the Kansas City Star had the following:

A jury in Judge Lucas's court decided this morning every issue in favor of Woodson Smith in his suit to collect on a fire insurance policy written by the Royal Insurance company. The jury gave him a verdict in addition for $335 for vexatious delay and $750 for attorneys' fees. The full amount sued for on the policy was $7,540.

The law provides that if an insurance company fails to pay a loss and it becomes necessary to sue for it a penalty may be added, which goes to the person who suffers the fire loss, for vexatious delay in collecting the money by suit. The Royal Insurance company will have to pay Mr. Smith that penalty and his attorneys' fees too.

This is the third of the seventeen suits brought by Mr. Smith against sixteen insurance companies, to be tried. He has won each suit. The companies against whom he already has obtained judgment are the Merchants Insurance company and the Northwestern Fire Insurance company. The verdict of the jury today was so strongly in favor of Mr. Smith that the other fourteen cases may be consolidated and all tried together, although the companies have indicated their purpose to contest each suit seperately.

ARNOLD FUNERAL LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral services for the late Judge Samuel B. Arnold were held Sunday morning at the M. E. church South, conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Parvin. The church was filled to overflowing by the friends of the deceased, nearly all of whom had known him and respected him for many years.

Rev. Parvin preached a splendid sermon, in which he took occasion to speak of the many good traits of character Judge Arnold possessed. Old familiar songs were sung by the congregation, and Miss Besse Scott sang "Calvary."

The Odd Fellows lodge had charge of the services, and the Knights of Pythias, G. A. R. post and the order of Owls attended in a body. Burial took place in Miriam cemetery.

Those serving as pallbearers were Thomas Rickets, A. L. Williams, Henry Hudson, Howard McCommon, Edward McMillan, A. H. Leech, S. C. Leech, George Custer.

Judge Arnold served our city well as police judge. He was a good public official wherever he was placed. But his service as police judge was the best service of his life. His beliefs in regard to public office and public officials kept up with the best thought of the times, and it is to be regretted that he could not have lived longer to serve our people in his official capacity.

SAVANNAH SCHOOL EXTENDS SYMPATHY

Superintendent George F. Nardin of the Savannah public schools has written a letter of sympathy to Superintendent Hawkins of our city schools because of the tragic death of our two boys, Robert Fisher and Paul Allen, which we all so deeply mourn. His letter reads:

"Savannah, Mo., May 19, 1911.—Professor C. A. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools, Maryville, Mo.: Dear Mr. Hawkins—It is with the profoundest sorrow that the Savannah high school hears of the sad accident which befell your boys yesterday. We have no words to express the shock of grief we felt upon receipt of the news. Sadness came over us like a pall. Please extend our sympathy to all relatives and friends, and assure them that we would gladly relieve their sorrow if our consolation could accomplish it.

"Yours sincerely,

"GEORGE F. NARDIN."

To My Friends.

As a sort of celebration of my seventieth birthday anniversary, I will be at my law office, rooms 5 and 6, Roseberry building, tomorrow afternoon, May 23rd, after 2 o'clock, pleased to receive, not your presents, but your kindly presence in friendly greetings, at such hour as suits your convenience.

IRA K. ALDERMAN.

Base Ball Notes.

Strickler, Keys, Darrow and Hosick have been released by Manager Keck.

"Bulger Walsh" joined the Comets at Falls City Saturday and played a good game. "Bulger" is a good ball player and is well thought of by the Maryville fans.

"Herb" Sackett arrived in Maryville Sunday night to join the team. Sackett has been playing with the Brookfield team. Sackett is to play short and left with the team Monday for Clarinda.

Wintz was injured in the game at Falls City Friday and was out of the game Saturday. With Wintz and Cook on the hospital list, the Comets are somewhat crippled.

The following was the lineup in Saturday's game with Falls City, all the pitchers being used in the out and infield, and it was necessary to secure a railroad man from Falls City to play short: McBride, catcher; Delair, first base; Walsh, second base; Folinger, shortstop; Hosick, third base; Oswalt, left field; Griffin, center field; Darrow, right field; Wise and Cowley, pitchers.

Manager Edward Keck, in speaking of the Comets Saturday, said: "Just give us a little time and we will have a team here. Many more new men are coming. With the games at Falls City, being the opening of the season, we have had a little bad luck. Cook and Wintz were injured and several players were released. It was even necessary to secure a Falls City man to play with us Saturday. Just wait and keep your eye on the Comets."

Oswalt will pitch the game today at Clarinda. A new player will also be used—Black, who will catch. The following is the lineup for the game today: Black, catcher; McBride, first base; Walsh, second base; Sackett, shortstop; Wintz or Kersey, third base; Cowley, left field; Griffin, center field; Delair, right field; Oswalt, pitcher.

THE CLASS SERMON

TO GRADUATING CLASS OF HIGH SCHOOL GIVEN SUNDAY MORNING.

BY REV. SHULLENBERGER

A Graduate of the High School, But Now Pastor of the First Christian Church of Mexico, Mo.

The baccalaureate services of the Maryville high school at the First Christian church Sunday morning were participated in by all the churches of the city and their pastors.

The baccalaureate service proper was carried on by former graduates of our high school, and this fact brought out a magnificent audience, for nearly every home in our city was personally interested, either by the ties of blood or friendship. Many people stood throughout the service.

The opening exercises were conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. L. O. Bricker, assisted by Rev. Lee Harrel of the First Baptist church Dr. J. S. Ford of the First M. E. church and Dr. Charles P. Luce of the First Presbyterian church. Hymns were sung by the congregation and the special numbers given by the quartet of former high school graduates Misses Vernie Felter, Miss Alice Orcutt, Miss Phyllis Sayler, Miss Ruth Montgomery, Lawrence W. Ray, Lester Bennett, Lona Perrin and Fred Lewis, were indeed well given.

The solo, "A Dream of Paradise," by Miss Vernie Felter, was beautiful. The piano accompaniment was played by Miss Audrey Howendobler, another member of the alumni.

The pipe organ numbers by Dr. D. J. Thomas were appropriate to the occasion, and the appearance of the graduating class and school faculty during the march created the usual interest as they took the places reserved for them, but the sad faces of all told plainer than words how deeply they were bereaved in the death of one of their number, Robert Fisher, and his companion, Paul Allen and all through the singing their faces were wet with tears. The exultant joy and pride usually seen and felt at such a time was entirely absent and it was not until the speaker of the day. Rev. Will A. Shullenberger of Mexico, Mo., of the class of '99, was introduced by Rev. Bricker that the thought and attention of the audience could be turned to the things of the hour.

Rev. Shullenberger, before beginning his sermon, said he wished then and there to say a word of appreciation for the teachers "who started him and finished him" in the Maryville high schools—Miss Albert, who washed the bruises, bound up the hurts to fingers and toes and taught him his A B Cs in primary days, and Professor Hawkins, who had so large a part in training the high school boys and girls for the larger part of life that came afterward and helped them to enter higher schools of learning for the attainment of higher ideals.

Addressing the class, Rev. Shullenberger announced his subject: "From the Circle of the Critic Into the World of the Criticized." Text, John 7:50-52. It is the opinion of all who heard him that no better baccalaureate sermon has ever been given a high school class. And it was by a young man who only twelve years ago was one of the boys of Maryville, full of laughter and fun, but earnest, too. Everybody said he would be a great preacher when he started to Drake university Bible school the September following his graduation, and now he is one. He has worked hard and is now greatly useful in one of the best pastorates in the state. His eloquence is the sort that sinks in and takes root, and his sermon yesterday will bear rich fruitage, we believe. We are pleased to give his sermon, as follows:

"Nicodemus said unto them (he that came to Jesus by night being one of them,) 'Does our law judge any man before it hears him and knows what he doeth?' Then they said unto him, 'Art thou also of Galilee? Search and look, for out of Galilee ariseth no prophet.'"

Some one has said: "The boy is the father of the man." By that statement he left to us the inference that the sturdiness and usefulness of manhood is the patrimony of a rightly spent youth. Be that as it may there are some privileges and rights of youth that are more imperial than those of men. The period of our present life which most compares with the regal power of the ancient monarch is that period into which falls the years of high school preparation and the glad days of our first commencement. Of all such rights none is more fitly yours by right of inheritance, common consent, and by the law of development than the title to a seat in the circle of the critics. It has so been, as we may see in a moment, that the years of your lives prior to this occasion have been most peculiarly devoted to the criticism of the great world life about you. But the time has come when the circle must be broken by the onslaught of individual responsibility, and you must step from the circle of the critics into the great world of the criticised.

The wings of fate and fortune flap alike above the heads of all. We are alike profited by the gleanings from the fields of joy, and receive alike the dividends paid out from the world's syndicate of sorrow. Together we press along the valleys where the mists hang heavy, and anon we climb with eager feet into the clearer air that rests upon the heights of joy. The more I see of men and women the more I am convinced that "some are born to be great" is only a partial statement of a truth and fact. The great difference between the two classes of men the world knows—and there are but two classes—is that one class has learned the meaning of the words "I can," and has taken the expression "I can't" from his vocabulary, while the other has undermined himself through a spirit of impotency until the vision which he should realize upon is infinitely beyond his grasp to apprehend. Life in its fortunes and life in its problems is a common life; life and its experiences while individual and personal are nevertheless reflected from the mirror of universal mankind. "You have an individual heart and hand and yet they resemble the heart and hand of every one else." And so that you may weigh the full import of the sermon subject, realize the personal element contained therein, and at the same time have a perfectly accurate map of your future, I throw open the doors of the text that you may get a vision of a character.

If the biblical mention of Nicodemus engage your attention a moment we find there what may be called a sacred triology. Nicodemus is first seen when in the year of obscurity he makes his memorable call at eventide upon the Man of Galilee. Slipping in perhaps at the side entrance he meets that Man with the marvelous face, the clear eye, and quite personality; for a while these two talk together—the one to satisfy the inquiry of his heart and the other supply the demand made by a living soul: Nicodemus is in the circle of the critics—it is his to see, hear and know. Then pass some three years of silence ere the cords of hostility begin to draw tightly about the divine prisoner, and in the day of bitter enmity the leaders of the people send a detachment of soldiers to arrest him, but as these men return empty handed the old Sanhedrin is stirred into tumult and furore, and in the midst of all Nicodemus steps from the circle of the critic into the world of the criticized to defend in the words of the text his conviction and belief. But a burly Pharisee at his side calls him down, turning upon his devoted head an avalanch of wrath. Six months later the world is learning its lesson as Emerson say we must—that "the supreme lesson of life is to hear what the centuries say against the hours" comes this same man bold in the midst of persecution to demonstrate that manly courage in an essential of right living.

This then is a graphic picture of your own life. Hitherto, like a king of old you have surveyed life's conflicts from your throne on the shore, or more properly in figures you have sat in the great amphitheater beholding the weary gladiator wield his sword, you have been the arbiter of the elegant, the judge of the deeds of men, the critic of all things in general. Now you are forced from your seat in the circle of beholders to your place in the arena of real activities. It must be so for each year the 8,000 high schools of the land pour into natural life 150,000 young men and women; your places will be taken and hence the only safe way to go is forward. This occasion is dear to my heart for the memory of school and college days clings lovingly to the heart like the ivy as it lovingly covers the ruins of a fallen castle. I want to present to you a few abiding and incontrovertible thoughts which are great not because I say them, but because they are destined to be the heart and soul of your future years.

You are now to determine what the most important thing in this life is, and then possess that thing. As you go into the great world of the criticised so many hands will beckon you, so many voices call you, so many

2000 PEOPLE THERE

AND 2,000 MORE TURNED AWAY FROM DOUBLE FUNERAL.

LARGEST HELD IN COUNTY

Robert Fisher and Paul Allen Carried Away Under Flowers—Laid to Rest in Oak Hill.

The path of sorrow, and that path alone,
Leads to the land where sorrow is unknown;
No traveler ever reached that blest abode,
Who found not thorns and briars in his road. —Cowper.

* * And lo, I am with you alway. —Jesus.

The funeral services for Robert Callaway Fisher and J. Paul Allen, the only sons of Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Jehu Allen of this city, held in the First Christian church Sunday afternoon, were attended by the largest audience that has gathered for a like occasion in the history of the county.

Fully 2,000 people were seated or standing in the church when the caskets were brought into the church, covered with beautiful flowers, and placed at the chancel, which was banked with the choicest of flowers, the gifts of many friends. The casket containing the body of Paul Allen was preceded by the pallbearers, all intimate friends, and were John Ross, James Kinsella, Edward Gray, Ernest Yeaman, Kenneth Frazer and John Gates. Following were Mr. and Mrs. Allen and their relatives, those from out of town being Mrs. J. B. Wilson, Chester Wilson and Mrs. G. B. Rimel of Guilford and William Pope of Parnell.

The casket with Robert Fisher's body was preceded by his high schoolmates, Paul Denny, Orlo Quinn, Albert Craig, Fred Vandersloot, Raymond Cook and John Owen Murrin. Dr. Fisher and his family followed, with the following out-of-town relatives: Jacob McKee and two daughters, Misses Vesta and Jean McKee, of Alma, Neb.; Mrs. Lloyd Baker of Denver, Col.; Thomas McKee and family of St. Joseph and Miss Ritta Park of Warrensburg.

In a silence that could be felt in that vast audience—the silence that feels the sorrow in hearts that are bleeding—the choir sang, or tried to sing, the opening song, and every face in the house was wet with tears. All of the singers were intimate friends of the two stricken families, and theirs was a hard task. They were Miss Litta Roelofson, Miss Lillian Lindholm, W. E. Goforth and F. L. Flint.

Rev. L. O. Bricker, the pastor, read a beautiful collection of Scriptures, full of love and promise and other beautiful songs were sung. Rev. Bricker then preached a short sermon that thrilled every heart with its tender sympathy and love, and the tribute he gave the memory of the clean, manly, upright lives that had met so untimely an end, glowed with truth, eloquence and beauty.

At the close of the sermon Miss Lindholm sang "My Homeland, O My Homeland."

The great audience of people took a last look at the familiar young faces, and was one hour and a half in passing the caskets.

Escorted by the high school students, the eighth grade students and Company F, who had occupied seats in the church in a body, the funeral cortege marched to Oak Hill cemetery where a military burial was given.

PLATFORM MANAGER OF TRENTON CHAUTAUQUA

The Trenton Daily Republican-Tribune of recent date had the following:

The Chautauqua association has closed an agreement with W. A. Shullenberger of Mexico, Mo., former pastor of the Christian church here, to act as platform manager of the 1911 session. "Shully's" ability to handle the job satisfactorily is undoubted. He has the readiness of speech and thought, the genial presence and ability to fill in any kind of a gap that will make certain his part of the assembly a success.

deceptive things challenge your attention that sometimes your minds stagger and the senses become bewildered as to what you ought to do. There is a peculiar characteristic belonging to history—that of our not being able to see the greatness of an issue or deed until we behold it from afar. The men and women who rushed from their homes on that eventful day in old Palestine to look upon the white, wan face of the Nazarene had no idea that they were treading on the very threshold of eternity. One has written well in this:

"We'll suppose Mt. Athos carved as Alexander schemed
To some vast image of a man.
The peasants gathering brush wood at his ear had little dreamed
As browsing goats of form or feature of humanity up there:
In fact had journeyed five miles off or ere the giant image broke on them.
Full profile, nose and chin distinct mouth muttering rythms of silence up
The sky and red at evening with the blood of suns:
Grand torso, hand that flung perpetually the largest of a silver river down
To all the country pastures."

Holding fast the character sketch of Nicodemus we find that when he incorporates God in his life then is he heard of. True strength comes by discovering the most important thing and then appropriating that thing. The need of life is strength, and there is no real strength without godliness. To the world all men look much the same, but the world's standards of manhood are one thing and heaven's standards another. The measure of any person's greatness is the distance his soul is projected toward God, and the day is coming apace when we shall use as synonyms three words: Manhood, strength, Godliness. Beauty, culture, fluency and agreeablity are all often mistaken for strength. And diametrically opposed to strength is weakness, which lies cheats, falsifies and damns, filling the asylums, jails and penitentaries with more than their rightful share of humanity. Weakness if often expressed in excuse making; the boy lamenting that there is no challenge for the steel of youth and thinking himself over-due in the ranks of distinguished manhood, but at the same time making absolutely no provision nor preparation for getting there; the toiler gray despondent over an ill-fashioned lot and yearning with blame upon others to live it all over again.

There are some elements of strength which of necessity we must manifest. Self-restraint coupled with self-assertion is one; no Uriah Heaps for the present day, but men and women who can control themselves in a masterful way knowing at the same time when the moment of unjust imposition comes. Industry and self-reliance are golden virtues for their hours, while reliability finds itself classed near the top in the catalog of character assets. And over and above all the most important things for you is to determine to see the Almighty in all things. See Him as the great Father of humankind, the Artist of nature and the Being who has a personal interest in your life. Who can tell the story better than this?

"A fire-mist and a planet
A crystal and a cell,
The jelly-fish and the saurian,
And the caves where the cave-men dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty,
And a face turned from the clod:
Some call it Evolution and others
Call it God.

A haze on the far horizon,
The infinite, tender sky
The ripe, rich fruits of the harvest,
And the wild geese sailing high;
And over all upland and lowland,
The charm of the golden-rod,
Some of us call it Autumn,
And others call it God.

Like tides on the crescent sea beech,
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and surging in—
Come from the mystic ocean,
Whose rim no foot has trod;
Some of us call it Longing,
And others call it God.

A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the nemlock,
And Jesus alone on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight hard pathway have trod,
Some call it Consecration,
And others call it God.'"

Then with conviction of strength comes the desire to stand for something. You can't keep strength from the battle; you cannot turn strength aside—you dare not even challenge strength. When the character subject of this sermon discovered his true strength within he ventured to step into the vortex. And when you venture to declare yourselves in the future be sure you will be criticized, but also remember that you will never attain full stature until you take some positive position. The world needs people who can stand alone, and while there is much of the mock heroic about the old Roman soldier who stood guard at the gates of Pompeii until the molten lava encased his form, he nevertheless suggests a real quality of character to us. Great characters are those who cleave their future with adamantine resolutions, who walk without crutches and who stand by the strength of moral stamina. The world laughs at the fashions of Paris that go the full length of nonsense, the laugh usually being turned toward the feminine sex. Paris is indeed astute and as "wise as serpents," generally foisting off on the American society what she herself refuses to wear. Thus have come in a half century everything from the hoop skirts to a more modern garment called a "skirt," but is in reality a masculine garment. In short, we say that our women have no sense of individuality. Men are no better. My first year in college was a year of revelations. When I entered school every young man who had the price of a new suit wore a long sack coat, at least a foot longer than any self-respecting coat need to be, and the creases were scarcely out of that new suit until the startling intelligence came that coats were to be short. So off we marched to the tailor to have those coats cut off. This act removed all romance from the wearing of patched trousers and made it a stern reality. We jumped because the bell sheep jumped. The absence of originality in work stunts and stultifies. When you mimic any person you are most apt to mimic his weaknesses. As the young preachers in the day of the great Chalmers were wont to adjust their glasses to their noses as he did and nem, and haw, and drawl, and drone over their sermons for the first ten minutes as he did, thinking that like him, their thunder and eloquence would come—which never did. So does all absence of originality shorten our powers.

In the days of 1894, when the east was in the throes of a great railroad strike, William H. Taft was the youngest judge on the bench of the federal circuit court. All others had refused to take a hand in the course of events. One day there came into his jurisdiction a man named Phelan, a walking delegate, whose business was evidently to make a bad matter worse. Judge Taft ordered him to desist, and upon his refusal, threw him in jail. Then came the crisis. Friends of the judge came to plead that he release the man, saying Phelan's friends were arming themselves and most serious trouble was inevitable. Judge Taft ordered things to stand as they were, saying that three days later he would hand down a decision on the matter in general. When the morning of the third day found him in the court room, it also saw that room filled with an angry mob, armed and ready for mischief. In profound silence the judge began to read, and as he progressed the righteous indignation mounted to his checks, fire shown in the clear eye, and when he finished he said, looking the strikers squarely in the eyes: "When you go from this room I want you to go with the understanding that these trains will run if the troops of the United States can make them run and as for Phelan—he stays where he is." Without a murmured threat the men of the mob arose to go from the presence of the man who was their master. Likewise in the realm of righteousness the world is turning to the King of Kings, the Lord of Lords, and to the word of His life and activities, for in the test they are found able to stand on real merit.

The final scene of our trilogy declares courage the thing necessary for all the days. The curtain falls on Nicodemus, the courageous. There is no real courage without the appreciation of dangers. He is no intrepid soldier who sails over mines without knowing them to be there. A fool can look into the face of a loaded shotgun, but he may be brave. Rather the bravery of one of Napoleon's generals, who, leading on foot the charge of his regiments, was pointed out to the little corporal to be pale of face and tense in nervous strain; the staff ventured to say that the fortunes of the day had been entrusted to a coward. Napoleon made answer, "That is my bravest general. He perceives his awful danger, but faces it like a man, and in the end of the day will be the victor." History bears evidence that he spoke the truth. At the divergence of your paths stand imagination, bright faced, nervous, impulsive, fanciful and idealistic. By her side hope, patient enduring and long suffering But always in front courage with the light of battle in her eyes, undaunted and pointing with relentless finger to the way yet beyond. And when the cold hearted world thrusts imagination to the heart with the quick sword of practicability, and when hope, emaciated and bleedings, falls to the ground with the death bubbles breaking upon her lips, it will be courage who will heal the one, resuscitate the other, and rescue you.

Courage is needed every moment. The highest ideals of morality and goodness will be shocked and assailed by the world. You will be surprised and hurt by man's inhumanity to man, and woman's inhumanity to woman. There will come the temptation to become atheistic, ascetic and sardonic, but let not your years be vexed nor deformed by the harassing weakness of the world of sin. Character may sometimes come as with the paeons of victory, and sometimes as the Spartan carried from the field upon his beaten and punctured shield.

Going from the circle of the critic into the world of the criticized, the places that knew you shall know you no more, for the days of careful toil are being born into the fuller days of fruition and service. Good as have been the days of the past, far better are to be the days to come. All hail to the days of your school time, to the tones of the bell the voices of comrades, the faces of classmates, the faithfulness of teachers, but hail more to the days when, crossing into the world of activity and conquest, you will close with the problems face to face and hand to hand. And I bid you with the changing scenes of life remember—

"Brave quiet is the thing for thee,
Chiding thy scrupulous fears.
Learn to be real from the thought
Of the eternal years."

News of Society and Womens' Clubs

South Side Club.

The South Side Embroidery club met with Mrs. Charles Eckert, living three miles north of Maryville, Thursday afternoon. One new member was taken in, Miss Rose Frazee, who gave several piano numbers during the afternoon. "Natural Curiosity" was the subject discussed while each carried on her embroidery work. Refreshments were served just before the departure of the guests. Those present were Mrs. J. C. Farrar and daughter, Miss Eva Farrer; Mrs. Lawrence Frazee, Miss Rose Frazee, Mrs. W. O. Garrett and little daughter, Gertrude; Mrs. M. D. Kemp and little daughter, Helen.

Heard Music of Italy.

The Tourist division of the Twentieth Century club delightfully entertained the Shakespearean division and a few other guests Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George P. Bellows. It was an evening with Italian music, played by Mrs. Bellows on her victrola. The Tourists have been studying Italian music and art for the past year and the last time they held open house they invited friends to see what they had been studying, and this time they were asked to see with their ears, as Mrs. Luce expressed it, the wonderful charm and beauty of Italy's music. She said "canned music" was often spoken of in jest and joke, but as the Tourists could not pay $10,000 to secure Caruso for an evening they were quite content to listen to his voice and that of Schumann-Heink on the victrola, and other great music. The guests were received by Mrs. Charles P. Luce, chairman of the Tourist committee, Mrs. George L. Wilfley and Mrs. George Bellows. Punch was served in the reception hall by Mrs. Charles Jackson, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Jr., and Mrs. H. L. Raines. At the close of the program a three-course luncheon was served. Mrs. William Wallis, Jr., and Mrs. Ferdinand Townsend presided in the dining room and were assisted in serving by Miss Jessie Parcher and Miss Helen Leffler. All the decorations were in the colors of cream and lavender, fleur de lis being the flowers used on the mantels in the rooms and in the dining room. The centerpiece for the dining table was a large bouquet of long stemmed cream fleur de lis. Cream colored candles tied with lavender tulle lighted the table. The first part of the program was given over entirely to the best in Italian music, while the second part consisted entirely of familiar airs. All the numbers were cleverly announced by Mrs. Luce. Mrs. F. R. Anthony was unable to be present to take the place assigned her for a talk on music, as she heard it in Italy among the children. Her place was graciously filled by Mrs. Ferdinand M. Townsend, who sang in excellent voice two of Carrie Jacob Bond's songs, "Just A-Wearying for You" and "Still Unexpressed." Mrs. Townsend played her accompaniments, a material aid to her beautiful interpretation of the songs. The numbers on the victrola were:

Overture from "William Tell," as played by the Columbia band.

"Mi Nina," by Gogorza.

Intermezzo, "Cavaleria Rusticana," by Mascagni.

"A Love Song," by Schumann-Heink.

"Miserere," by Verdi.

"Ah, So Pure," from "Martha," by Caruso.

Overture, "Poet and Peasant," as played by Sousa's band.

"Blue Danube Waters," by Strauss.

"My Rosary," as sung by Schumann-Heink.

Mendelssohn's "Flower Song."

"Dreaming Love of Thee."

"Honeymoon March."

"Whistling solo, "The Mocking Bird."

NASAL CATARRH.

Mrs. E. Karberg Says It is Easy to Get Rid Of.

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of Hyomei. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and the cure, from the use of Hyomei, was very gratifying. Hyomei has from me a strong recommend and endorsement."—Mrs. E. Karberg, 213 Kingsley street, Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16, 1908.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) cures catarrh, because it gets where the germs are, and destroys them. It is made of Australian eucalyptus, mixed with other healing antiseptics. When breathed over the irritated membrane it gives relief in two minutes.

Used regularly for a few weeks it will build up and heal the germ infested membrane and drive out catarrh.

If you own a small Hyomei pocket inhaler, you can get a bottle of Hyomei at druggists' everywhere, or at the Orear-Henry Drug company for only 50 cents. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a complete outfit, the price is $1.00. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup or sore throat, or money back.

MEXICAN PEACE PACT IS SIGNED

Representatives of Both Sides Affix Signatures.

REBELS' DEMANDS CONCEDED.

Document Records Fact That Diaz and Corral Will Resign and Attentions of Government Be Concentrated on Reform.

Juarez, Mex., May 22.—Officially designated representatives of the Mexican government and the revolutionists signed a peace agreement at the customs house here intended to end the hostilities that have been waged in Mexico for the last six months.

Though covering only the principal points negotiated thus far, the agreement practically records the concession by the government of those demands which started on Nov. 20 last by an armed revolution in Mexico.

Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were dispatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders alike.

Constitutional restrictions prevented the inclusion in the agreement of the fact that the rebels will be permitted to suggest to various state legislatures the names of provisional governors and likewise the fact that six of the eight members of the new cabinet have been chosen by the revolutionists, but the agreement records that President Diaz and Vice President Corral will resign and that the government is to concentrate its attentions on desired reforms.

In the same room where President Taft and President Diaz met two years ago the document was drafted. The actual signing of the agreement took place under most extraordinary circumstances last night on the steps of the customs house. When the peace commissioners arrived, they found the door of the customs house locked and no one there to let them in. Accordingly, they gathered on the steps of the building and while newspaper men held matches, fountain pens were produced and the document signed.

Four automobiles turned their searchlights upon the scene and when the signatures were affixed, the commissioners of both sides embraced joyfully, while a small crowd that had collected shouted, "Viva la paz."

Judge Carbajal represented the federal government and Dr. Vasquez Gomez, Francisco Madero, Sr., and Pino Suarez acted for the revolutionists.

FAMILY WIPED OUT

Frightened Horse Plunges Across Interurban Track.

Newark, O., May 22.—The entire family of D. W. Dodson of Hebron was wiped out when an interurban car on the Newark division of the Ohio Electric railroad struck their buggy and killed Dodson, Mrs. Dodson and their two little girls, aged seven and four years. When the mother was picked up she was dead. The younger child died almost immediately; Dodson died while being taken to a physician and the elder child died later.

According to railroad officials, the Dodsons were riding east along the highway which flanks the electric line, a mile east of Hebron, and were passing a westbound car when their horse became frightened and plunged across the track.

OFFICIALS STAND FIRM

May Wheat Deal to Be Probed, Regardgardless of Adverse Criticism.

Chicago, May 22.—Officials of the board of trade who have ordered an investigation of the May wheat deal say they are not to be turned from their course by adverse critisism. The committee will make an effort to conclude its investigations so as to report to the directors tomorrow.

President George E. Marcy of the Armour Grain company and A. J. Lichstern, who is generally credited with being the principal in the big May wheat operations, are the only members who have been before the committee. The Armour house claims to be acting simply as a commission concern in filling the orders and taking the wheat on May contracts.

Joy Riders Run Down Two Girls.

San Francisco, May 22.—Struck by an automobile containing a party of unidentified joy riders on the Ocean boulevard, Jeanette Heilburth, aged twelve years, was fatally, and Miss Elie Fulda, seriously injured. Following the accident the driver increased the speed of the machine and disappeared.

Kills Two Women With Axe.

Louisville, May 22.—Splitting the skulls of two negro women with an axe while they slept, Matthew Kelly, a negro, addressed a note to the police, confessing the crime. When arrested Kelly said the women had been trifling with him and that he killed them for revenge.

NEW DIPLOMACY IS PROFITABLE

State Department Assists in Landing Fat Contracts.

INVESTIGATION FOR HOUSE.

Attention Is Called to Continued Improvement in Diplomatic and Consular Service and Merit System. Foreign Claims Are Collected.

Washington, May 22.—The results of "dollar diplomacy," as practiced by this country, are summed up in a report prepared by the state department on the development of American commercial interests abroad. Many millions of dollars' worth of contracts, it has been shown, have been secured for American concerns, largely through the aid of the state department.

The information was prepared for the house committee on expenditures of the state department, which is also investigating the department for the president's economy and efficiency commission. The report also mentions the $22,000,000 contract for the construction of the Argentina battleships, $1,000,000 for artillery for Argentine torpedo boats, $1,659,000 for railroad supplies for the Argentine state railroads, $1,000,000 for vessels for the Cuban navy and $500,000 for Chilean submarines.

The state department has been influential in securing for American firms participation in large loans and in collecting for American citizens claims against foreogn governments. Bankers of this country are to have part of the Chinese currency loan of $50,000,000 and of the Hukuang loan of $30,000,000. In addition the state department is pressing to what it believes will be a successful conclusion the American railway concession in Asia Minor, involving more than $100,000,000.

The diplomatic corps here, the report points out, is the largest in the world. Expanding American influences and increasing commercial interests abroad necessitated a reorganization about two years ago of the state department to take care of these growing needs.

Attention is called to the "continued improvement in the diplomatic and consular services and their gradual evolution from the spoils system with its attendant evils to their present high place of nonpartisanship with appointments and promotions strictly in accord with the merit system."

The general conclusion is that there is a remarkable lack of interest in the consular system except in the east.

TAFT WILL LIVE IN WEST

President Accepts Minnetonka Suggestion of Senator Kenyon.

Washington, May 22.—Following on the invitation of Senator Kenyon to the president to visit Okoboji or Minnetonka this summer, Representative Nye introduced in the house a bill providing for the construction by the government of a summer home for the president on the shores of Minnetonka. The president approves the idea.

Pierre, S. D., May 22.—The supreme court dismissed the disbarment accusations against Attorney General Johnson, on the ground that the testimony did not sustain the charges.

SIX NEGROES ARE LYNCHED IN FLORIDA

Dozen Men Masquerade as Officers to Secure Blacks.

Lake City, Fla., May 22.—Six negroes were lynched here after a party of more than a dozen men, masquerading as officers, appeared at the county jail and secured possession of the men by presenting a bogus telegram to the sixteen-year-old son of the sheriff, ordering the release of the blacks to the alleged posse of officers. The negroes were being held here for safe keeping on the charge of murdering B. B. Smith, a sawmill man of Wadesborough, and wounding another man named Register.

The men, who had come from Tallahassee to Lake City in automobiles, took the negroes about a mile outside of Lake City. They compelled the negroes to stand abreast and about ten men commenced firing with rifles and pistols until every one of the six had been riddled with bullets.

Kansas City Shop Strike Off.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age. Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Is a handsomely bound book of about 200 pages, 15 1-2x17 3-4 inches printed on very heavy paper, and is filled with portraits of the prominent people and old-time settlers of the county, a history of the county and the various townships, Maps of the county, townships and towns of the county, State of Missouri United States and of the world. The maps of the towns show the streets and alleys and other things of municipal importance including the various subdivisions of the town. The township maps show the section and range lines, the various subdivisions of land with names of property owners, the location of schools, churches, residences, cemeteries and other matters of interest. Another valuable feature of the book is a directory of farmers and their addresses with route numbers. The book is sold for $15.00.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Maryville People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy and other serious troubles. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Maryville proof:

G. W. Hempstead, East First street, Maryville, Mo., says: "When suffering from an extreme sensitiveness in the small of my back, I was advised by a friend to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. I procured a box at Charles A. Love's drug store and they lived up to representations. I have never had any trouble from my back or kidneys since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FRANCE'S WAR MINISTER KILLED

Monoplane Plunges Into Group of Members of Cabinet.

PRIME MINISTER IS INJURED.

Accident Occurs on Aviation Field, Where 200,000 Persons Had Gathered to Witness Start of Race—Driver Loses All Control of Machine.

Paris, May 22.—France paid a terrible toll for its magnificent endeavor to attain supremacy of the air when a monoplane, the driver of which had lost control, plunged into a group of members of the cabinet, who had gathered to witness the start of the race from Paris to Madrid, killing the minister of war and injuring the prime minister, his son and a well known sportsman.

The dead: Henri Maurice Berteaux, minister of war.

The injured: Antoine Emmanuel Ernest Monis, premier and minister of the interior; Antoine Monis, son of the premier; Henri Deutsch de la Mourthe, the aged patron of aeronautics.

The accident occurred on the aviation field at Issy les Molineux, where 200,000 persons had gathered to see the start of the race.

Aviators Not Hurt.

M. Train was piloting the monoplane. With him in the car was M. Bonnier, a passenger. Neither of these men was injured. The machine was wrecked.

Minister of War Berteaux was horribly mangled. The swiftly revolving propeller cut off his left arm, which was found ten feet away from the spot where he was struck, the back of his head was crushed in, his throat gashed and the whole of his left side cut and lacerated.

Premier Monis was hurled beneath the wreckage of the monoplane. He was taken out as quickly as possible and examined by military surgeons, who found he had sustained compound fractures of two bones in the right leg, that his nose was broken, his face badly contused and there were bruises on the breast and abdomen.

Approach for Closer View.

The line of spectators bordering the flying field was held rigid by soldiers, who permitted the ministerial party and some half hundred other persons of distinction to walk across the field to where they could get a better view down the course and see the airmen as they rose from the starting point.

Train left the ground. Ascending swiftly, he circled the field, curving round to the starting line and then flying down the course at forty miles an hour, his machine rocking in the wind. At this moment it was observed by the commandant of the troops that the crowds were breaking the line formation on one side of the field and he dispatched a troop of cuirassiers to get them back in order. The cuirassiers galloped across the field, breaking into double lines as they went.

Loses Control of Machine.

Train's monoplane here swooped toward the earth under the impulse of an air flurry and it appeared as though the aviator was about to dash into the cavalry. The pilot's attention seemed momentarily to have been diverted from his course and he made a quick turn to the left, toward where the party of officials were standing. Then he lost control of the craft altogether and it dashed violently into the ministerial group.

The impact knocked M. Berteaux ten feet away, where he lay in a pool of blood, badly mangled, while under the wreckage of the monoplane lay Premier Monis, his son and M. Deutsch. Train and M. Bounier emerged from the wreck uninjured.

A scene of frightful confusion followed. From all parts of the field arose cries of alarm and dismay and tens of thousands of persons broke through the lines and moved toward the scene. The cavalry, by repeated charges, managed to clear the field and the injured men were given first aid treatment by the field surgeons. It was seen that M. Berteaux was fatally hurt and that M. Monis was seriously injured. After the ministers had been cared for the surgeons dressed the wounds of those who had received minor bruises.

There are various versions as to the cause of the accident, but everyone seems to agree that it occurred with such rapidity there was no time for M. Berteaux, M. Monis and the others to escape.

BRAZIL DEPORTS MUTINEER

Member of Opposition Asks for Explanation in Chamber of Deputies.

Rio Janeiro, May 22.—The Rio Janeiro newspapers publish a story alleging the deportation from Brazil by order of the government of 700 men, including mutineers and criminals, on board the steamer Satellite. As a result Barbosi Lima, a member of the opposition, asked for an explanation in the chamber of deputies, and the brother of President Fonseca, leader of the government, promised that the president would make an explanation later.
